19 EAST 49th STREET

NEW YORK

THE group of pictures in the present exhibition is the work of one of America's younger painters Wharton Harris Esherick, born 1887.

These pictures were painted on quaint old Cape Cod; in the Adirondack mountains where the painter had the good fortune to be with a prominent rhythm camp and study the lovely figures moving gracefully in the landscape; in Chester Valley, Pennsylvania and in southern Alabama where Mr. Esherick was head of the Art Department of The School of Organic Education, at Fairhope.

The large range of subjects indicates an appreciation of cloud and mist, land and sea under many and very diversified conditions.

The red clay gullies in pine clad stretches on Mobile Bay, the fog enveloped New England shore, and the happy peaceful hills and lowlands of the great Chester Valley, all so unlike yet revealed to the artist a charm and delicacy that have helped him to express his love of them with equal interest.

Mr. Esherick has worked in many mediums, and his enthusiasm for decoration expresses itself in these frames which he has designed and carved himself.

Mr. Esherick is a native of Pennsylvania and studied in the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts under William M. Chase and Cecilia Beaux.
